

Runner Attribute Development TRAINING & COMPETITION

Be prepared for the 2019-2020 competition season while training with friends in the Southeastern Idaho region.

RAD training develops the Neuromuscular, Physiological and Psychological attributes that support ambitious goals in the sports of cross country and track and field. We meet two times per week as well as offer runner-training and competition opportunities throughout the Summer and Winter months. Our training consists of strength & stamina-building and Neuromuscular Runner-skill & speed development. We train on mountainous trails, on grass and on track surfaces.
